KEYBOARD REPERTORY c.1500–c.1700

Anthologies

Clement Matchett's Virginal Book CON 104 K9 £6.80
 Edited by Thurston Dart. A transcription of the ms. Panmure 9 in the National Library of Scotland, with keyboard pieces by Byrd, Bull and (?) Wilbye in the hand of Matchett c.1612.

Early Scottish Keyboard Music CON 105 K15 £7.75
 Edited by Kenneth Elliott. A transcription of the ms. Panmure 10 in the National Library of Scotland, known as 'Duncan Burnett's Book' c.1610. 10 keyboard pieces by William Kinloch, Duncan Burnett and others, together with a short selection of Scots airs for cittern and for violin.

Elizabethan Keyboard Music ASK 108 MB55 £92.00
 Edited as Musica Britannica Volume 55 by Alan Brown. 60 pieces of music written and transcriptions made in the last quarter of the 16th century taken mostly from BL Add. MS 30485 and Will. Forster's Virginal Book.

English Keyboard Music c.1600–1625 ASK 138 MB96 £95.00
 Edited as Musica Britannica Volume 96 by Alan Brown. This volume is the first of two intended to extend the coverage of keyboard music in Musica Britannica comprehensively into the first quarter of the 17th century. (The other, Volume 102, includes material from the two virginal books in the Fitzwilliam Museum, Cambridge.) The present edition contains music by anonymous and a dozen or so named composers, including the complete keyboard works of Nicholas Carleton, the surviving twenty 'Miserere' canons by Thomas Woodson, and the 'Pretty ways for young beginners to look on', possibly by Thomas Tomkins.

English Keyboard Music 1650–1695 ASK 134 PC6 Not yet fixed
 Edited as Purcell Society Edition Companion Series Volume 6 by Andrew Woolley. This wide-ranging anthology offers performers and scholars both a musical context for the keyboard works of Henry Purcell and a generous selection of fascinating repertoire from the period. The collection includes pieces by Blow, Bryne, Cobb, Draghi, Forcer, Hingeston, Locke and Anon., as well as a setting of Lully's Scocca Pur. Many of the fine works in this attractive collection are published here either for the first time or for the first time in a modern edition. (Publication 2018)

Fitzwilliam Virginal Book CON 101 K16 £6.50
 Edited by Thurston Dart. 24 pieces selected and edited from the ms. in the Fitzwilliam Museum, Cambridge, copied by Francis Tregian between 1609 and 1619.

Intabolutura Nova di Balli ASK 17 K23 £6.50
 Edited by Thurston Dart and William Oxenbury. A collection of 25 dances by Italian composers, originally printed in Venice, 1551. Transcribed from the copy in the Liceo Musicale, Bologna.

Jacobean Keyboard Music CON 253 K49 £8.75
 Anthology from Musica Britannica edited by Alan Brown. All eighteen pieces in this collection are reliably dated to the reign of James I, and whether by named composers or anonymous ones, appear in sources other than the notable virginal books preserved in the Fitzwilliam Museum, Cambridge. The contents demonstrate the variety of forms in the keyboard repertoire of this period, from plainsong-based compositions to dances, and the didactic introduction to contrapuntal techniques, the 'Pretty ways for young beginners to look on', possibly by Thomas Tomkins.

John Blow's Anthology CON 112 K37 £11.75
 A collection of 20 pieces by Froberger, Fischer and Strungk in the hand of John Blow, transcribed and edited from the ms. in the Brussels Conservatoire by Davitt Moroney.

Keyboard Music from Fitzwilliam Manuscripts ASK 141 MB102 £105.00
 Edited as Musica Britannica Volume 102 by Christopher Hogwood and Alan Brown. Complementary to Musica Britannica Volume 96, the 85 items in this edition complete the coverage of the Fitzwilliam Virginal Book in Musica Britannica. With the exception of four pieces by Sweelinck available elsewhere, this volume contains all the Fitzwilliam content not otherwise already published in individual Musica Britannica virginalist-composer collections or in the three anthology volumes (Volumes 1, 55 and 66). In addition, there are ten pieces from another important keyboard source in the collection of Cambridge's Fitzwilliam Museum, the Tisdale Virginal Book.

Keyboard Solos and Duets CON 254 K48 £8.75
 Edited by Alan Brown. Complementary to K49, this collection from Musica Britannica is a unique offering of music by John Amner, Nicholas Carleton and John Tomkins that is the only surviving keyboard music by the respective composers. In addition to a pair of duets, there are two lengthy variation sets, Amner's being a rare example of those on a metrical psalm or hymn-tune (possibly by Tallis in this case). Nicholas Carleton's 'A verse of 4 parts' and 'Upon the sharp' include several examples of unusual chromatic notation and wide-ranging tonal schemes.

Musick's Handmaid: The First Part CON 107 K28 £9.75
 Transcribed and edited by Thurston Dart from Playford's original publication of 80 short pieces by the major composers of the mid-17th century.

Musick's Handmaid: The Second Part CON 108 K10 £7.50
 Transcribed and edited by Thurston Dart from the publication of 1689 of 35 easy pieces mostly by John Blow and Henry Purcell.

Parthenia CON 106 K19 £10.00
 Edited by Thurston Dart. A critical edition of the famous book first published in 1612–13, with 21 pieces by Byrd, Bull and Gibbons.

The Fingering of Virginal Music CON 103 K38 £7.50
 Edited by Peter le Huray. A selection of pieces including works by Byrd, Bull and Gibbons newly transcribed with the original fingerings given in the ms.

The 'Lynar' Virginal Book CON 224 K42 £8.00
 Twelve pieces by John Bull, Giles and Richard Farnaby, Orlando Gibbons, Leonhard Woodson and others are here collected to make an attractive anthology of English keyboard music found in the precious Lynar A manuscripts, which also contain primary sources for the keyboard music of Sweelinck, Peter Philips and Tarquinio Merula. Edited by Pieter Dirksen.

The Mulliner Book ASK 23 MB1 £98.00
 New edition of Musica Britannica Volume 1 by John Caldwell
 This new edition of the publication that launched the Musica Britannica series in 1951 restores original note values to the music, and brings to the text the fruits of over half a century of continuing research and discovery stimulated by the pioneering edition of Denis Stevens. As far as possible, all significant notational features of the source are recorded in the transcription or the Textual Commentary. The volume now also includes music for cittern and gittern both in tablature and transcription, transcriptions of analogues, additional pieces, a detailed description of the manuscript, and music for the hymns and antiphons identified as melodic sources.

35 Pieces from 'The Mulliner Book' CON 111 K3 £10.25
 Edited by John Caldwell

Tudor Keyboard Music c.1520–1580 ASK 92 MB66 £93.00
 This handsome and remarkably varied collection completes the publication in modern edition, begun in Musica Britannica Volume 55, of all surviving keyboard music that can be reasonably assigned to the dates 1520–1580. Edited by John Caldwell.

A number of these have been replaced by a Revised Augener Edition, incorporating information to show the original sources. Those already in this new edition either have an 'R' in front of the catalogue number e.g. 'R8224' or are shown with a * e.g. '*6502C'.

Morgan Hayes, born in 1973, is a leading contemporary composer for the piano. The scope of his work is broad, ranging from virtuoso solos such as Puppet Theatre and Lute Stop to brief celebratory miniatures like Wigmore Hall and Birthday Capriccio. Strides is an ongoing series of short character pieces of contrasting moods and styles, challenging the player, but well within the range of performers of intermediate technical ability.

Rhian Samuel is a co-editor of the Grove Dictionary of Women Composers and herself a composer of highly acclaimed instrumental and vocal works, including Daughters' Letters, premiered in 1996 by Sinfonia 21, and Tirluniau (Landscapes), premiered in 2000 at the BBC Proms. She wrote Dream-Images in memory of her teacher, Andrew Byrne. Two interludes separate the three 'images', each of which is rhapsodic in mood. The last, Weeping Trellises, refers to the gentle, drooping blooms of the wisteria plant, and, emotionally, to feelings of inevitability and loss.

Birthday Gifts. Three Short Pieces	H361	£4.50
Discovered among the composer's papers, these three short pieces extend the idioms of the major works into the intimate world of the keyboard. The first piece is a study in sarabande rhythm; the second, Molto lento , a frosty evocation of Winter. A rousing Pezzo ostinato – a favourite form, completes the collection. Performers of intermediate grade and beyond will relish the chance to play music by arguably our greatest composer, who wrote sparingly yet discerningly for the piano.

Serenade Duo (Two copies supplied) Y219 £11.00
 Ymddiddan (Dialogue) (Two copies supplied) AC166 £21.00
Ymddiddan (pronounced um-thee'-than) is a virtuoso work whose title is reflected in the use of spacial separation of its two pianos as a powerfully dramatic element of musical form. Vividly capturing in music the sense of its three contrasting movements, 'Hedfan' (Flying), 'Galar' (Grief) and 'Igamogam' (Zig-Zag), Ymddiddan is a welcome addition to the small yet distinguished contemporary repertoire for the two-piano medium.

Organ music of the English Romantic School

Selected and edited by Martin Ellis

This album presents some of the finest and most ambitious works written by English organist-composers active between the late-Victorian period and the years following the First World War. Its contents include the Scherzoso of Walter Battison Haynes, the Nunc Dimittis of Charles Wood, the Fantasy on the Tune 'Babylon's Streams' by William Harris, the Impromptu No. 2 in D by Sydney Nicholson, the Lament by Harvey Grace, and Epinikion (Song of Victory) by Cyril Bradley Rootham. Martin Ellis brings his great experience of the repertoire to the notes for performance and textual commentary for each piece, which will prove invaluable for contemporary players.

Three Impromptus H491 £7.00
 Organist Richard Hills introduces this reissue of a neglected Edwardian classic with a timely note on performance-style, the composer and his works. Varied in colour and mood, and written with an idiomatic command of the instrument, these Three Impromptus reinforce the impression of Coleridge-Taylor not only as a versatile presence on the Edwardian scene, but also as a composer whose music is an enduring part of our British musical heritage.

The journey begins with the Organ Sonata No. 1 in C sharp minor, Op. 5, and ends with Quiet Voluntary for Evensong, Op. 70, composed in 1946 when the composer was eighty-seven. Each volume contains notes on the pieces and the composer's life by Kenneth Shenton. With the publication in six volumes of his 'Complete Works for Organ Solo', it is hoped that the interest in Basil Harwood's music, unjustly neglected in the years since the composer's death, will continue to grow.

Four Hymn-Tune Quodlibets H445 £6.50
 The linking together of familiar melodies from different sources in the form of the quodlibet has a long history. Hazel Hudson adds to that tradition with four examples that each affectionately combines a well-known hymn with a familiar song of worship. The technical level of difficulty is easy to intermediate, and the featured tunes are Bunessan and Amazing Grace, Ebenezer and Let My People Go, St Denio and Kum Ba Yah, and Cwm Rhondda and Shout for Joy.

Toccata Nuptiale H446 £5.75
 There being no just cause or impediment to the contrary, Christopher Maxim makes a daring liaison between the music-hall ballad 'Daisy, Daisy' (on pedals) and the grand organ style of Vierne (on manuals) in his Toccata Nuptiale, written for the wedding of a friend whose passions also include cycling. The result, which moves a long way from the organ loft of Notre Dame, is a splendid addition to the repertoire of wedding music and of light-hearted concert works – and is much simpler to play than a real Vierne toccata!

Nigel OGDEN

An Art-Deco Three Piece Suite H358 £6.50
 At Your Service. Fifteen Practical Voluntaries H456 £6.25
 for Church Organists

Liturgical organ music in an accessible modern style is always welcome, and Nigel Ogden, well-known contributor to Stainer & Bell's 'Light Organ Series', and host of 'The Organist Entertains' on BBC Radio 2, has composed fifteen new pieces for use within the communion service and other acts of worship. Versatile in function, they may be played on a two-manual organ, with optional pedal, but are also suited to a variety of instruments, to enliven church services with a wealth of suitable moods and atmospheres.

England's Glory H323 £5.95

New Era H389 £4.75

Written to inaugurate a series of lunchtime concerts at Manchester Town Hall, one of Britain's finest examples of Victorian architecture and home of the magnificent Cavallé-Coll organ. English through and through, it opens with a short fanfare motif which helps to bind the sections together as it marches along with more than a hint of Elgar. Easy under the fingers (and feet), this is a real player's piece and would suit any occasion where a little pomp and ceremony are required.

Our Squadron Leader H428 £4.75

Nigel Ogden's many admirers will welcome this recent addition to the growing list of original organ music from the pen of this stylish entertainer. A lively march in military style frames a 'big tune' in E flat major, written in the grand ceremonial manner. Sounding equally fine on pipe or electronic instruments, the piece is well within the range of any player of Grade 4 standard or above, and has been recorded on the CD 'At Your Request', issued by OS Digital Recordings, performed by the composer on the Wurlitzer Organ at Stockport Town Hall.

See page 13 for further titles by this composer in the 'Light Organ Series'.

Ralph VAUGHAN WILLIAMS

Organ Anthology	H482	£9.45
-----------------	------	-------

Four classic arrangements by Henry G. Ley

Organist of Christ Church Cathedral in Oxford and a friend of Vaughan Williams, Henry G. Ley made these four transcriptions – of the slow movements of A Sea Symphony and A London Symphony, of the Alla Sarabanda from the Phantasy Quintet, and of 'Antiphon' from Five Mystical Songs – with the composer's approval. Though Ley was known as 'the Paderewski of the organ', the effectiveness of these arrangements depends as much on their skilful deployment of tone colour as on virtuosity. Previously issued separately, these pieces are now made available in one book on account of their enduring interest to organists.

Pieces

Joyce ALLDRED

Tart with the Cart and Animo et Fide H481 £4.50
Tart with the Cart is a playful variation on the song 'Cockles and Mussels', taking its title from the popular name for the celebrated life-size statue of Molly Malone in Dublin. The march Animo et Fide ('With courage and faith') was written in 2008 to commemorate the centenary of Stockport Town Hall, and is a processional in the tradition of those by Elgar, Walton and Eric Coates.

The Granada Connection H352 £4.50
A rousing march, celebrating the installation of the mighty Wurlitzer theatre organ from the Gaumont (Granada) Cinema, Manchester in 'Projections' – formerly part of the Studio Tours Complex.

Malcolm ARCHER

Sleigh Bells Across the Snow H466 £4.75
In the tracks of such masterful sleigh rides as those of Leroy Anderson, Malcolm Archer's Sleigh Bells Across the Snow comes with optional chimes and a memorable tune. Though conceived with the theatre organ in mind, it works equally well on any instrument with at least two manuals and pedals, and should be performed with lots of verve and as much glissandi and embellishment as take the performer's fancy.

The Royal Standard H477 £4.75
Written to celebrate the year of the Queen's Diamond Jubilee and the London Olympics, Malcolm Archer's march for organ takes its title from the famous emblem of royalty that flies proudly over Buckingham Palace when the sovereign is in residence. Befitting its subject, this uplifting music is in the high ceremonial style of Elgar and Walton, as colourful as the royal banner in blue, red and gold, but with a modern flavour too in its syncopated main theme. The piece is of intermediate standard, and is suitable for a variety of instruments with two manuals and pedals.

Ena BAGA

Bagatelle. Arranged by John Norris H345 £4.50
An outstanding performer from the days of silent cinema, pianist Ena Baga was also the gifted composer of many short pieces that fall into the category of 'light music'. Bagatelle was used as her signature tune whilst organist at the famous Tower Ballroom, Blackpool.

George BLACKMORE

Old Glory. ATOS Convention March H429 £4.75
This all-American march-medley aptly takes its name from the unofficial title for the United States' flag. Old Glory is published as a tribute to George Blackmore, a fine player and composer who did much to encourage a revival of interest in the 20th-century theatre organ.

Joe MARSH

Two Marches: Victory Parade and New Victoria H493 £6.50
This matching pair of stirring marches is the latest addition to Stainer & Bell's popular 'Light Organ' series. Joe Marsh writes with a particular flair for rhythmic heft and swing, and his work shows the great British tradition of martial music for the instrument alive and thriving in the hands of one of its most noted practitioners, who is also President of the Sunderland Theatre Organ Preservation Society.

Louis MORDISH

Turkish Delight H367 £4.50
Readers of Louis Mordish's autobiography, So I think I'll become a musician, will recognise in Turkish Delight the wit, charm and sparkle so typical of a musician who was amongst the first gentlemen of his profession.

Nigel OGDEN

Afternoon Tea with The Duchess H321 £4.50
Leprechaun in London H322 £4.50
Mr Mozart takes a Sleigh Ride H451 £4.75
The great composer goes on a musical journey accompanied by some of his most famous tunes in this humorous medley compiled by Nigel Ogden. Mr Mozart takes a Sleigh Ride is an ideal party piece or encore item.

Penguins' Playtime H320 £4.25
Saints on a Spree H461 £4.50
Saints on a Spree is a stylish and not altogether reverent fantasy on several popular tunes associated with saintliness. Lively episodes in Latin-American and schmalzty-waltz mood pull the carpet from under a solemn, hymn-like opening. Things get even more wild when Widor's Toccata from the Fifth Symphony and Brahms' Lullaby put in an appearance. But just in time the composer draws all these ideas into a grand and saintly peroration, which will sound as good whether played on an electronic instrument or on a church organ.

Scherzo for the White Rabbit H348 £4.50
Host of BBC radio's 'The Organist Entertains', Nigel Ogden is a celebrity recitalist and a stylish composer. He has performed extensively throughout the UK and the Continent.

Haydn WOOD

Slumber Song H469 £3.75
Reissued to mark the 50th anniversary of Haydn Wood's death, the refined and distinctive Slumber Song displays the remarkable talent of this master of light music, the composer of Roses of Picardy, A Brown Bird Singing, and Bird of Love Divine, as well as of a distinguished list of works for the concert hall. Arranged for organ by J. A. Meale.

Stanley WYLLIE

North of the Border H364 £4.50
You don't have to be Scottish to admire this lively march from Stanley Wyllie, distinguished cinema-organist and composer who died in 2003. The main theme hints at several popular tunes, but retains its own individuality. A flowing trio complements the energetic outer sections.

Louis MORDISH

So I Think I'll Become a Musician B808 £9.25

Louis, who died in 1996, did practically all there was to do in showbiz since joining the profession as a pianist for the silent screen. There's a special emphasis on the mighty Wurlitzers and other instruments that he played to perfection. ## Composition and Improvisation

Laura CAMPBELL

Sketching at the Keyboard B605 £14.45
Laura Campbell was a pioneering teacher of keyboard skills, with a special gift to inspire a practical understanding and application of harmony in her pupils. Much praised and reprinted since its publication in 1982, Sketching at the Keyboard is the epitome of her method, and remains unrivalled for its systematic treatment of this challenging yet rewarding subject. Through the concept of 'landscaping', the student develops a command of textural variation and of the enrichment and extension of primary harmonies. The art of making accompaniments is fostered through a broad choice of major, minor and modal melodies for treatment, appealing to students of all ages whether using this indispensable book in class or individual tuition, or for private study.

Sketches for Improvisation B652 £12.00
In spite of the significance of jazz improvisation as a basis of popular music, keyboard improvisation in classical styles remains a core discipline for anyone seeking the practical application of harmonic facility and long-term melodic memory that are essential aspects of a traditional musicianship. Complementary to Sketching at the Keyboard but valid equally for use in conjunction with it or independently, Sketches for Improvisation is a step-by-step guide to mastery of the subject that also promotes written skills through the creation of a portfolio of compositions. The many starting points for improvisation will inspire both the gifted student and the beginner who knows only a few scales in the simple keys. Sketches for Further Harmony and Improvisation, which provides experience in the use of more complex chords and their application in a wide range of classical styles, is available from The Dalcroze Society (www.dalcroze.org.uk).

Claire LIDDELL

So you want to play by ear? B582 £9.25
This 96-page book has been prompted by the many people who have come to the author with the common wail: 'I can play the piano – a bit of Mozart and even an easy Chopin waltz – but I can't harmonise anything by ear when my friends ask me, or even when I'm alone.' But anyone can. YOU CAN. This practical guide to improvisation is aimed at all those who have a beginner's knowledge of the keyboard and who want some fun from it.

Patric STANDFORD

Projects B805 £11.25
Listening, composing and performing are the foundation of Projects, Patric Stanford's exciting composition manual that meets the varied demands of 'A'-level and undergraduate courses. Former head of Composition at Bretton College of Higher Education, respected composer and tireless advocate of new music, Stanford begins unashamedly with melody. Through a study of historical examples, students quickly learn to write their own, then master rhythm, harmony and the construction of canons before creating original pieces for melody instruments, keyboard, and percussion ensemble. With a wealth of illustrations and full of good sense, Stanford's practical text ensures a constant helping hand for the young composer, showing how music of the past and present, carefully observed, can unlock the novice's imagination. Beautifully produced, Projects combines a sound respect for the fundamentals of music-making with the one element essential for its success – enjoyment.

Jazz

Lionel GRIGSON

Practical Jazz B668 £12.00
Practical Jazz stands as an eloquent tribute to the work of Lionel Grigson, for many years Professor of Harmony and Improvisation at London's Guildhall School of Music & Drama. A usable theory of the subject that grows naturally out of practical experience yet is understandable in classical terms, it is an ideal guide for students who have a natural feeling for jazz but find conventional harmony tuition to be dull and academic. Rapid progress is made from simple jazz chords in various voicings to the 12-bar blues and its variations. Part 1 gives the harmonic underpinning for improvising melody over the changes clearly explained in Part 2 – from blues to bebop. Equally suited to the amateur enthusiast, this book makes an important contribution to jazz education, fulfilling the requirements both of the National Curriculum and more advanced studies at college or university.

Richard MICHAEL and Scott STROMAN

Creative Jazz Education B778 £17.50
A Course Book with accompanying audio CD

The authors have the widest experience in Britain of taking jazz workshops and teaching regularly in school curricula. Both are contributors to Stainer & Bell's Small Band Jazz series. See Catalogue T64 for full details.

Robert GERLE

The Art of Practising the Violin B506 £11.75
One of America's outstanding violin teachers, and a highly regarded recording and concert artist, Robert Gerle studied at the Liszt Academy in Budapest with Geza de Kresz, and numbered Flesch, Thibaud and Enescu among his principal influences. Good bowing and intonation, left-hand practice, sight-reading and memory training are the focus of The Art of Practising the Violin, in which he brought his great depth of practical wisdom to bear on issues that are of concern for all string players.

The Art of Bowing Practice B791 £11.25

Complementary to The Art of Practising the Violin, The Art of Bowing Practice is a detailed study of right-hand technique which matches artistic problems with technical solutions, and shows how the mechanics of the bowing arm, and the holding and moving of the bow, relate directly to aspects of fine tone, phrasing and articulation.

Jeffrey WHITTON

The Art of Practising the Piano B806 £11.25
The book is intended for piano students who have reached Grade 5 and then need help with the organisation of their practice rather than simply repetitive playing of scales and pieces. Imaginatively presented, the author writes of physical and psychological preparation; practice by analysis; the development of a secure memory; how to approach sight-reading; practising scales, exercises and pieces by identifying problem areas; and preparation for performance. Whatever techniques you are taught to use, this book is an immensely useful aid to making practice pleasurable rather than dull, never mindless and always a stimulating voyage of discovery.

Music Therapy

ALVIN, Juliette

Music Therapy B803 £13.50

In addition to her many pupils and the pioneering course in the subject she founded at the Guildhall School of Music, her remarkable legacy included this classic introduction to the subject, full of her practical wisdom and priceless insights. There are chapters on music and healing, the psychological effects of music on both the individual and the group, and the practice of music therapy in the treatment of both physical disorder and mental illness.

The Royal Albert Hall, Kensington, London, England

The official title of the structure, opened by Queen Victoria on 29th March 1871, was The Royal Albert Hall of Arts and Sciences, and the building has been used for a rich variety of functions over the years. For instance, the explorer Stanley lectured here to the Royal Geographical Society in 1890; it was used as a cinema in 1905; the Bolshoi Ballet gave the first of many performances in 1960; tennis was played here in 1970; there was ice-skating with John Curry in 1984; and in 1991 sumo wrestling was held – the first time in 1,500 years that a grand basho had been held outside Japan.

This incredibly versatile space hosts over 330 events every year and is celebrated for its legendary performances. On 14th April 1923, the BBC broadcast a recital by contralto Lily Payling, while in October 1950, a concert was given by the Trapp Family Singers (of The Sound of Music fame). The world-famous Henry Wood Promenade Concerts have been held in the hall since 1941 following the destruction of the Queen's Hall in an air raid.

The 'Father' Willis organ, with four manuals and 111 stops was, at its opening, the largest in the world, with the wind pressure being supplied by steam engines in the basement. With later additions in the 20th century, and a complete refurbishment in the early years of the 21st century, the organ is again the largest in the UK with 147 stops and 9997 speaking pipes, reclaiming its title from the Willis organ in Liverpool's Anglican Cathedral.
