MUSICA BRITANNICA

A NATIONAL COLLECTION OF MUSIC

Musica Britannica, founded in 1951 as a national record of the British contribution to music, is today recognised as one of the world's outstanding library collections, with an unrivalled range and authority making it an indispensable resource both for performers and scholars.

This catalogue provides a full listing of volumes with a brief description of contents. Full lists of contents can be obtained by quoting the CON or ASK sheet number given. Where performing material is shown as available for rental full details are given in our Rental Catalogue (T66) which may be obtained by contacting our Hire Library Manager. This catalogue is also available online at www.stainer.co.uk.

Many of the Chamber Music volumes have performing parts available separately and you will find these listed in the section at the end of this catalogue. This section also lists other offprints and popular performing editions available for sale. If you do not see what you require listed in this section we can also offer authorised photocopies of any individual items published in the series through our 'Made-to-Order' service. Our Archive Department will be pleased to help with enquiries and requests. In addition, choirs now have the opportunity to purchase individual choral titles from selected volumes of the series as Adobe Acrobat PDF files via the Stainer & Bell website. Please see the back page for full details.

Subscription to the series may begin with any volume and can be cancelled in writing at any time. Subscribers receive a discount of 10%. If commitment to a subscription is impossible single volumes may be purchased at the full retail price at any time. Special offers and flexible packages are also available. Details available from the publisher.

Prices, shown in £ sterling, are recommended retail prices exclusive of carriage and are applicable from 1st January 2020. Prices and carriage charges are subject to change without notice. In case of difficulty titles can be supplied directly by the publisher if prepaid by cheque, debit or credit card or by sending an official requisition. Card payments (Visa, Mastercard, Maestro or Visa Debit) are accepted for orders of £5.00 or over and can be made via our secure online ordering system on our website (www.stainer.co.uk) or by letter, telephone, email or fax. Please quote your card number, expiry date, issue number (if applicable), name (as it appears on the card) and address details. Customers ordering direct will be charged carriage and handling of £3.00 for orders up to £24.99 and £6.50 for orders of £25.00 and over for delivery within the United Kingdom. An order form is enclosed with this catalogue for your convenience.

Overseas retail customers cannot always be supplied because of agency arrangements; please ask for a pro-forma invoice which will include carriage costs. If not paying by credit card, payment is required in £ sterling by draft drawn on a London bank, no charges being paid by Stainer & Bell.

Should our publications cease to be zero rated for VAT purposes during the currency of this catalogue, VAT will be charged in addition to both the price and carriage charges shown.

- I The Mulliner Book
 Edited by John Caldwell
 Of an iconic status in the historiography of British Music, The Mulliner Book was published in a completely new edition in the 60th anniversary year of Musica Britannica. A major source of 16th-century keyboard music, it is also a compilation of music for cittern and gittern, plus a short vocal piece by Mulliner himself, available for the first time complete in one volume with a detailed commentary. First published in 2011.
MB1 ASK 23 £101.00
- II Cupid and Death
Matthew LOCKE and Christopher GIBBONS
 Edited by Edward J Dent
 Today's revival of interest in 17th-century English music-theatre owes much to pioneering early Musica Britannica volumes which made available for the first time authoritative editions of works such as James Shirley's Cupid and Death, an important example of the Renaissance masque tradition surviving from this period. Performing material is available for rental. First published in 1951, revised 1965.
MB2 ASK 14 £67.00
- III The Masque of Comus
Thomas ARNE
 Edited by Julian Herbage
 John Dalton's stage adaptation of Milton's Comus, with music by Thomas Arne, held the 18th-century stage for half a century in various forms. MB3 presents the complete text and music as first produced at Drury Lane Theatre in March 1738. Performing material is available for rental. First published in 1951, reprinted 1965.
MB3 £91.00
- IV Mediaeval Carols
 Edited by John Stevens
 This classic collection of extant musical settings of 15th-century English, macaronic and Latin carol texts was first revised by John Stevens himself, in the light of observations made by Manfred Bukofzer and Richard L. Greene. Its new, third edition, prepared by David Fallows, recognises the completeness and precision of the original volume, but with significant adjustments of the music to reflect greater textual accuracy, and a fuller understanding of the style resulting from six decades of further research. First published in 1952, revised 1958, reprinted 1970 and 1976, and revised 2018.
MB4 ASK 8 £98.00
- V Keyboard Music
Thomas TOMKINS
 Edited by Stephen Tuttle
 Previously revised over 40 years ago, MB's first single-composer collection retains much of Stephen Tuttle's original work in its new third edition, and that of its first reviser Thurston Dart. The latest emendations and amplifications, prepared by John Irving, reflect four decades of continuing evaluation of the holograph source preserved in the Bibliothèque Nationale, Paris, and correct various errors discerned both in the manuscript and printed text in the intervening period. First published in 1955, revised 1964 and 2010.
MB5 ASK 35 £85.00
- VI Ayres for Four Voices
John DOWLAND
 Edited by David Greer
 This completely new edition of a popular MB volume presents Dowland's 65 ayres for SATB and lute in original note values, and features the lute part both in tablature and staff notation. The volume includes The First Booke of Songes or Ayres (1597), The Second Booke of Songs or Ayres (1600), The Third and Last Booke of Songs or Aires (1603) and A Pilgrimes Solace (1612). First published in 2000, reprinted with corrections 2019.
MB6 ASK 52 £100.00
- VII Anthems I: Coronation & Verse Anthems
John BLOW
 Edited by Anthony Lewis & H Watkins Shaw
 The contents include anthems for the coronation of James II and for the coronation of William and Mary, plus three anthems with strings. Musica Britannica's collections of his work have done much to increase our appreciation of this influential figure in 17th-century English music. String parts for four of the anthems are available for rental. First published in 1953, revised 1969 and reprinted with corrections 1986.
MB7 ASK 49 £68.00
- VIII Complete Works
John DUNSTABLE
 Edited by Manfred Bukofzer
 A milestone in 20th-century musicology when first published and the standard edition ever since, this volume presents the surviving sacred and secular output of this renowned medieval English composer whose genius was recognised throughout Europe. First published in 1953, revised 1970 and reprinted 1983.
MB8 ASK 81 £91.00
- IX Jacobean Consort Music
 Edited by William Coates & Thurston Dart
 A rich anthology of fantasias and dances for 'whole' consorts of two to six parts, by 34 composers from Adson to Wilbye – and Anon. There is also a substantial section containing music for strings and keyboards, and another of music for division viol and lyra viol. First published in 1955, revised 1962 and reprinted with corrections 1971. Further reprint 1977.
MB9 ASK 9 £91.00
- X The Eton Choirbook I
 Edited by Frank Harrison
 An epic transcription of this most important document of late 15th-century choral music; Volume I contains polyphonic antiphons by Browne, Cornysh, Davy, Horwood, Kellyk, Lambe, Sturton and Wylkynson. First published in 1956, revised 1967 and reprinted with corrections 1983.
MB10 ASK 16 £85.00
- XI The Eton Choirbook II
 Edited by Frank Harrison
 18 late 15th-century polyphonic antiphons by Banester, Browne, Cornysh, Davy, Fawkyner, Fayrfax, Hampton, Hacomplaynt, Horwood, Huchyn, Hygons, Sutton and Wylkynson. The latest edition, prepared by David Fallows, more accurately reflects the coloration of the original manuscript. First published in 1958, revised 1973 and 2002.
MB11 ASK 16 £85.00

XII The Eton Choirbook III

Edited by Frank Harrison

The third part of the Eton Choirbook introduces four composers not previously featured – Holyngborne, Nesbett, Stratford and Turges – and includes Davy's Sr Matthew Passion and Wylkynson's setting of the Apostles' Creed. Magnus Williamson's revision of Volume III retains the exemplary editing by Frank Harrison. However, the fragmentary antiphons and Magnificat settings, previously presented as incipits only, are now included in complete transcriptions. Though still unperformable, they are nonetheless of considerable musical interest, and faburden melodies and plainsong cantus fermi relevant to these pieces have been provided in an expanded Appendix.

First published in 1961, revised 1973 and 2010.

MB12 ASK 16 £85.00XIII Overtures for Orchestra
William BOYCE

Edited by Gerald Finzi

A collection that includes some of the liveliest and most attractive orchestral music by any 18th-century English composer – edited by a 20th-century composer who pioneered a reappraisal of Boyce's achievement. Most of the pieces are drawn from New Year and Royal Birthday Odes. Performing material for rental is available for ten of the Overtures.

First published in 1957.

MB13 ASK 15 £85.00XIV Keyboard Music I
John BULL

Edited by John Steele &amp; Francis Cameron and revised by Alan Brown

Bull's skill as a composer and performer was acknowledged throughout Europe. This volume, the first of two, contains fantasias, ostinati and plainsong settings, keyboard canons, preludes and a group of 'Dorian' pieces rechecked against the sources in this latest revision.

First published in 1960, revised 1967 and 2001.

MB14 ASK 12 £85.00XV Music of Scotland 1500–1700

Edited by Kenneth Elliott

Containing a wide-ranging anthology of Latin church music, music of the reformed church, songs and instrumental music – music of court, cathedral and castle, kirk, burgh and countryside. This has remained one of the most popular Musica Britannica volumes amongst both scholars and performers.

First published in 1957, revised 1964 and 1975.

MB15 ASK 11 £91.00XVI No Song, No Supper
Stephen STORACE

Edited by Roger Fiske

A delightful late 18th-century stage-piece by a gifted composer who befriended the young Mozart. Regularly revived in amateur or professional productions, it makes an important contribution to our understanding more of a little-known and neglected area of English operatic history. Performing material is available for rental.

First published in 1959 and reprinted with corrections 1975.

MB16 £81.00XVII Concertos for Piano and Orchestra

Nos. 1–3

John FIELD

Edited by Frank Merrick

This is neglected repertoire by an important figure of the early Romantic movement who was a significant influence on Chopin. The contents include Piano Concertos in E $\flat$ , A $\flat$  and E $\flat$ , scored for strings, timpani and double woodwind, horns and trumpets. Orchestral material is available for rental.

First published in 1961.

MB17 £91.00XVIII Music at the Court of Henry VIII

Edited by John Stevens

A popular volume of secular pieces, transcribed from the collection known as Henry VIII's Book, that captures the diverse musical life to be sampled at the court of England's most fascinating monarch.

First published in 1962, revised 1969 and reprinted 1973, 1978.

MB18 ASK 22 £64.00XIX Keyboard Music II

John BULL

Edited by Thurston Dart

Complementary to MB14, Bull's more extrovert keyboard music: dances, preludes and variations, in a third edition rechecked throughout against the sources, and with text and music revised. There are extra variant readings, and a new second Appendix giving incipits of selected pieces or arrangements, anonymous in the sources, which have been proposed over the years as possibly Bull's work.

First published in 1963, revised 1970, reprinted with corrections 1992, and revised 2016.

MB19 ASK 12 £85.00XX Keyboard Music

Orlando GIBBONS

Edited by Gerald Hendrie

Highly popular in its own day, surviving not only in Parthenia but also in some 40 manuscripts, this corpus of work reflects the mind of a severe, sometimes austere musician who rarely indulged in effects of virtuosity for their own sake, yet whose music retains an enduring fascination for modern keyboard players. For the third edition, sources have been exhaustively checked and re-collated, and a new piece included: an Almain by Robert Johnson set by Gibbons.

First published in 1962, revised 1967, reprinted with corrections 1974, 1990, and revised 2010.

MB20 ASK 13 £68.00XXI Consort Music

William LAWES

Edited by Murray Lefkowitz

In the history and development of 17th-century English music, Lawes occupied a central position between the emergence of a distinctive instrumental style and its culmination in the works of Purcell.

First published in 1963, revised 1971 and reprinted with corrections 1978.

MB21 ASK 70 £71.00

XXII Consort Songs
 Edited by Philip Brett
 The 'Cinderella' of Elizabethan and Jacobean secular music, consort songs for voice and viols survived both the popularity of the imported madrigal and the fashion for the lute air. An indigenous corpus of music, they subsequently influenced the development of the verse anthem.
 First published in 1967, revised 1974.
MB22 ASK 4 £91.00

XXIII Collected Anthems
Thomas WEELKES
 Edited by David Brown, Walter Collins & Peter Le Huray
 Weelkes's music for the church, obscured by his reputation as a madrigalist, is well served by this edition of his full and verse anthems. Their qualities of dramatic strength and skill in handling choral forces are no less impressive than in his popular secular compositions.
 First published in 1966, revised 1975.
MB23 ASK 44 £71.00

XXIV Keyboard Music
Giles FARNABY
 Edited by Richard Marlow
 This is music by an elusive figure, whose amateur status in no way impaired the creation of a picturesque keyboard style which experts have compared with that of certain Romantic masters. Four pieces by Richard Farnaby, son of Giles, are also included.
 First published in 1965, revised 1974.
MB24 ASK 34 £71.00

XXV Secular Vocal Music
Richard DERING
 Edited by Peter Platt
 Canzonettes for three and four voices are collected in this volume, plus Italian madrigals in the early monodic style of the continuo-madrigal. A Roman Catholic, Dering worked first in Brussels, then at the court of Charles I and Henrietta Maria before his death in 1630. His music makes for interesting comparison with that of another recusant composer, Peter Philips, collected in MB29, MB61 and MB75.
 First published in 1969, reprinted with corrections 1977.
MB25 ASK 51 £68.00

XXVI Consort Music in Four Parts
John JENKINS
 Edited by Andrew Ashbee
 The volume includes airs and suites for two trebles, two basses and organ, and four-part fantasias and airs. Jenkins was a renowned composer in his own time, and his life and works forged a historical link between the glory of Jacobean consort music and its culmination in the music of Purcell.
 First published in 1969, revised 1975.
MB26 ASK 31 £85.00

XXVII Keyboard Music I
William BYRD
 Edited by Alan Brown
 The third, revised edition of this landmark volume incorporates a number of significant revisions. A new bibliography and note on instruments and performance are also included. With MB28, the volume is recorded on the 7-CD collection of Byrd's complete keyboard music, played by Davitt Moroney and issued on the Hyperion label.
 First published in 1969, revised 1976 and 2000.
MB27 ASK 32 £86.00

XXVIII Keyboard Music II
William BYRD
 Edited by Alan Brown
 Contains pieces on plainsong melodies, fantasias, pavans, galliards and character pieces, of which 17 are revised significantly in the light of recent research for this third edition. Also amended are the incipits of anonymous works and the lists of variants and of sources, with the addition as in MB27 of a bibliography, and an appendix of relevant plainsongs from 16th-century sources.
 First published in 1971, revised 1976 and 2004, and reprinted with amendments 2018.
MB28 ASK 32 £86.00

XXIX Select Italian Madrigals
Peter PHILIPS
 Edited by John Steele
 A Roman Catholic who spent most of his life in foreign service, Philips was a master of the conservative Italian style. This selection gives a comprehensive idea of his achievement, and makes for an interesting contrast with work by Richard Dering (MB25), another Catholic composer who spent much of his life away from England.
 First published in 1970, reprinted with corrections 1985.
MB29 ASK 25 £91.00

XXX Shakespeare Ode
Thomas LINLEY Jnr
 Edited by Gwilym Beechey
 A delightful 'Ode on the Spirits of Shakespeare', this is a remarkable achievement by a young composer whose tragically early death, aged 22, deprived English music of a possible figure of genius who was an exact contemporary of Mozart. Performing material is available for rental.
 First published in 1970, reprinted with corrections 1985.
MB30 ASK 14 £85.00

XXXI Chamber Music I
Matthew LOCKE
 Edited by Michael Tilmouth
 No comprehensive collection of British music would be complete without reference to the outstanding achievement of Matthew Locke, most idiosyncratic and arguably the most original of Restoration composers before Purcell. This first of two chamber-music volumes contains duos for two bass viols, the consort of two viols, the Little Consort and the Flat Consort of rugged chromatic music.
 First published in 1971, reprinted with corrections 1975.
MB31 ASK 14 £76.00

XXXII Chamber Music II
Matthew LOCKE
 Edited by Michael Tilmouth
 The Broken Consort: Part 1; the Broken Consort: Part 2; the Consort of Four Parts and two six-part canons continue the collections of Matthew Locke's chamber music in the Musica Britannica edition.
 First published in 1972, reprinted with corrections 1977.
MB32 ASK 14 £76.00

XXXIII English Songs 1625–1660
 Edited by Ian Spink
 A collection of songs by English composers of the generation following the lute-song writers, with music of the Stuart court forming an important element. This corpus of work is of interest for its typically English compromise with the new European styles of declamation and recitative.
 First published in 1971, revised 1977.
MB33 ASK 10 £91.00

XXXIV Complete Church Music I
Pelham HUMFREY
 Edited by Peter Dennison
 Spanning the years 1663–1674, Humfrey's output provides a most significant legacy from the Restoration period. The 12 verse anthems in this volume show the evolution of a distinctively English baroque style through a mixture of continental influences. String parts for Have mercy upon me O God and Lift up your heads are available through the 'Made-to-Order' service.
 First published in 1972, reprinted with corrections 1985.
MB34 ASK 56 £76.00

XXXV Complete Church Music II
Pelham HUMFREY
 Edited by Peter Dennison
 This volume contains six verse anthems, the Service in E minor (Humfrey's only surviving such setting), and the simple 'Church Chant' in C major, perhaps his best-known liturgical work.
 First published in 1972, revised 1985.
MB35 ASK 56 £76.00

XXXVI Early Tudor Songs & Carols
 Edited by John Stevens
 Previously unpublished secular songs from the Ritson Manuscript and the Fayrfax Manuscript form the substance of this volume, which complements MB18 to offer a fairly comprehensive picture of English vernacular polyphony in the century before the Reformation.
 First published in 1975.
MB36 ASK 3 £91.00

XXXVII Selected Piano and Chamber Music
Sterndale BENNETT
 Edited by Geoffrey Bush
 A Piano Sonata, a Suite de Pièces, a Chamber Trio for violin, cello and piano and a Sonata-Duo for cello and piano bear witness to the underrated skills of this Victorian composer and administrator who was an important precursor of the English Musical Renaissance.
 First published in 1972, reprinted with corrections 1985.
MB37 ASK 21 £91.00

XXXVIII Anthems and Motets
Matthew LOCKE
 Edited by Peter Le Huray
 Locke's tour de force, Be thou exalted Lord, much admired by Samuel Pepys, is included here with nine other English anthems and six Latin motets to make a complete edition of the composer's works on sacred texts for four or more voices. String parts for four of the motets are available through the 'Made-to-Order' service.
 First published in 1976, reprinted with corrections 1986.
MB38 ASK 14 £91.00

XXXIX Consort Music of Six Parts
John JENKINS
 Edited by Donald Peart
 Complementary to MB26, these six-part fantazias, pavines, fancies and In Nomines – all except one in minor keys – show Jenkins's profound technical mastery of the consort idiom extended to the handling of larger forces.
 First published in 1977, reprinted with corrections 1993.
MB39 ASK 31 £71.00

XL Music for Mixed Consort
 Edited by Warwick Edwards
 15 pieces from the Walsingham Consort Book of 1588 and 19 pieces from Matthew Holmes's Consort Books, c.1595, represent music for mixed consort, a colourful and eclectic genre that played an important role in Elizabethan and Jacobean secular music-making.
 First published in 1977, reprinted with corrections 1985.
MB40 ASK 5 £91.00

XLI Confitebor tibi, Domine
Samuel WESLEY
 Edited by John Marsh
 A setting of the 110th Psalm for SATB soli, chorus and orchestra, lasting over an hour. This volume makes available a key work in the output of this unworthily neglected 19th-century composer, and offers a major addition to the English choral repertoire. Performing material is available for rental.
 First published in 1978.
MB41 ASK 41 £91.00

XLII The Judgment of Paris
Thomas ARNE
 Edited by Ian Spink
 Composed in 1740, this is a fascinating late example of the English masque tradition, and a relatively early work by a composer who began to occupy a central role in the life of London's musical theatre at about the time when Handel was abandoning Italian opera in favour of oratorio. Performing material is available for rental.
 First published in 1978.
MB42 £76.00

XLIII English Songs 1800–1860
 Edited by Geoffrey Bush &
 Nicholas Temperley
 A representative survey of the best of English art songs dating from the Georgian and early Victorian period. The anthology contains neglected material by Attwood, Balfe,
 Barnett, Hatton, Loder, Pierson, Pinto, Samuel and S S
 Wesley and others.
 First published in 1979.
MB43 ASK 6 £91.00

XLIV Elizabethan Consort Music I
 Edited by Paul Doe
 With MB45 this volume completes the publication of extant In Nomines and related pieces used for consort performance in the reign of Elizabeth I – excluding the music of William Byrd and works by Scottish composers collected in MB15.
 First published in 1979.
MB44 ASK 7 £97.00

XLV Elizabethan Consort Music II
 Edited by Paul Doe
 Five-part consorts by Christopher Tye form a substantial corpus of the works collected in this volume, and appear alongside pieces by Anon, Blanks, Harding, Mundy, Weelkes, Woodson and others.
 First published in 1988.
MB45 ASK 7 £91.00

XLVI Fantasia-Suites
John COPRARIO
 Edited by Richard Charteris
 Probably written for Charles I when Prince of Wales, Coprario's fantasia suites – 16 for viol, bass viol and organ, eight for two violins, bass viol and organ – established a texture that was developed without interruption in the works of Lawes, Jenkins, Gibbons and Locke and culminated in Purcell's 12 Sonatas of 1683.
 First published in 1980.
MB46 ASK 33 £97.00

XLVII Alfred
Thomas ARNE
 Edited by Alexander Scott
 Described as an 'English opera', Alfred was first performed in 1740 at Cliveden, the residence of Frederick, Prince of Wales. It is remembered today as the source of the patriotic song 'Rule, Britannia'. Performing material for extended excerpts is available for rental.
 First published in 1981.
MB47 £91.00

XLVIII Consort Music
Orlando GIBBONS
 Edited by John Harper
 33 free fantasias dominate this collection, which also includes four In Nomines, four dances and variations on 'Go from my window'. This volume gathers together the complete surviving corpus of consort music by one of the genre's greatest masters.
 First published in 1982.
MB48 ASK 13 £86.00

XLIX Songs
Hubert PARRY
 Edited by Geoffrey Bush
 This is a representative collection of solo songs by a seminal figure in the English Musical Renaissance. 36 items selected from the English Lyrics show a fine sense of word setting and poetic subtlety, with texts by Sir Philip Sidney, Shelley, Scott, Lovelace, Beddoes, Byron, Keats,
 Sir John Suckling, Julian Sturgis, Beaumont and Fletcher,
 Meredith, Haywood, Herrick, Thomas Lodge and Rossetti.
 The four Shakespeare Sonnets are also included.
 First published in 1982.
MB49 ASK 74 £91.00

L Anthems II: Anthems with Orchestra
John BLOW
 Edited by Bruce Wood
 Seven more anthems by this most influential of Restoration composers; five date from the closing years of Charles II's reign, and two from the reign of William III. Orchestral material for five of the anthems is available for rental.
 First published in 1984.
MB50 ASK 49 £91.00

LI Dramatic Music (including Psyche)
Matthew LOCKE
 Edited by Michael Tilmouth
 A collection that highlights Locke's pivotal role in laying the foundations of English dramatic music, combining the traditions of the Masque with the new optimistic manner of recitative. This volume also contains The Empress of Morocco and The Tempest, with the music by Humfrey, Banister, Reggio and Hart. Performing material for Psyche is available for rental.
 First published in 1986.
MB51 ASK 14 £107.00

LII Songs
Charles Villiers STANFORD
 Edited by Geoffrey Bush
 Brahmsian in outlook yet flavoured with Irish flair and imagination, these songs reveal hidden aspects of a composer whose reputation, in all its diversity, is still to be fully revalued. One complete song-cycle, A Fire of Turf, is included, together with Three Ditties of Olden Times,
 Three Songs to Poems by Robert Bridges, Songs of Faith
 Set II, The Clown's Songs from Twelfth Night and 20 other individual songs.
 First published in 1986.
MB52 ASK 82 £101.00

LIII Collected English Lutenist Partsongs I
 Edited by David Greer
 70 partsongs by Michael Cavendish, Robert Jones, Francis Pilkington and John Bartlett are presented in four-part

LVI Songs 1860–1900
 Edited by Geoffrey Bush
 A fascinating collection that casts new light upon an undervalued 19th-century genre. Women composers Maude Valérie White and Liza Lehmann feature prominently. Of special interest is a selection of songs from Arthur Somervell's Tennyson cycle of Maude.
 First published in 1989.

LVII Anthems I
Samuel Sebastian WESLEY
 Edited by Peter Horton
 11 anthems by this vigorous reformer of Victorian church music show Romantic harmony and Bachian counterpoint combined with imaginative structures. These works brought new life to a uniquely English genre that had fallen into neglect at the time of their composition.

LVIII Ode on St Cecilia's Day and Anthem: Harken unto me
Maurice GREENE
 Edited by H Diack Johnstone
 Two pieces with a distinctly Cambridge connection, the Ode being composed for the opening of James Gibbs's University Senate House in 1730, the anthem intended for performance in King's College Chapel on 25th March – Founder's Day – 1728. Performing material is available for rental.

LXI Cantiones Sacrae Octonis Vocibus (1613)
Peter PHILIPS
 Edited by John Steele
 This collection is a landmark in the reassessment of an important yet undervalued English composer of the late Renaissance. 31 eight-voice Cantiones Sacrae reveal the impressive technical and expressive range he achieved within a conservative idiom, and his particular mastery of music for double choir.

LXII Four-Part Fantasias for Viols
Alfonso FERRABOSCO THE YOUNGER
 Edited by Andrew Ashbee & Bruce Bellingham
 Contrapuntally sophisticated, the fantasias of Ferrabosco the Younger laid the foundations for the development of 17th-century English consort music, and were admired by European musicians including Praetorius, Maugars, Mersenne and Rousseau. A complete recording of the four-part fantasias is available through the New England Chapter of the Viola da Gamba Society of America.

LXIII Anthems II
Samuel Sebastian WESLEY
 Edited by Peter Horton
 This volume contains The Wilderness and Ascribe unto the Lord in versions for chorus and organ and chorus and orchestra. They form an unequalled testament to Wesley's genius as a choral composer who excelled in extending the limits of the multi-movement anthem. Orchestral material is available for rental.

LXIV Anthems III: Anthems with Strings
John BLOW
 Edited by Bruce Wood
 Nine pieces are included in this third volume of anthems for voices and orchestra by John Blow. They were composed during his first decade as a Gentleman of the Chapel Royal and reveal both his indebtedness to the influence of Pelham Humfrey, and his rapid assertion of his own manner. Instrumental material is available for rental for the anthem Cry Aloud and Spare Not.

LXVIII      Solomon: A Serenata
William BOYCE
 Edited by Ian Bartlett

Scored for soprano and tenor soloists, SATB chorus and orchestra, the serenata Solomon is an outstanding example of the 18th-century pastoral genre at its most poetically rich and distinctive. At one time second only to the Messiah in popularity, it deserves equivalent notice today as a masterpiece of the English baroque and as a profuse flowering of Boyce's exceptional talents. Performing material is available for rental.

LXIX      Complete Organ Music
John BLOW
 Edited by Barry Cooper

The organ voluntaries, double or cornet voluntaries and psalm-tune settings by John Blow form a substantial corpus of material – 48 pieces in all – that sheds much light on the developing keyboard style of the late 17th century. Predominantly serious and contrapuntal, they bear witness to the technical mastery of their composer and to his role as an important influence in Restoration musical life.

LXX      Consort Music of Three Parts
John JENKINS
 Edited by Andrew Ashbee

Twenty-eight pieces for treble, two basses and organ, and twenty-one for two trebles and a bass, attest to the degree of mastery achieved by John Jenkins in the traditional fantasia form. His command of a fine lyric gift and wide-ranging tonal orbit are especially to be noted in the contents of this volume, which fills an important gap in our knowledge of this distinctively English instrumental repertoire.

Amongst the most widely disseminated and influential piano music of the early 19th century, the sixteen Nocturnes of John Field are here published together for the first time, in an edition that through careful consideration of publishers' plate numbers, Russian first editions and the composer's habits of revision reveals the number and chronology of the little-known Nocturne No. 10, and its relation to the unnumbered 'Troubadour' Nocturne H.55.

William SHIELD
 Edited by John Drummond

A retelling of the biblical story of Ruth in a rural north-of-England setting, Rosina was Shield's fourth opera, and was a considerable success at its premiere on the last day of December, 1782. Rosina's importance lies in its musical charm, its content (which includes borrowed and original vocal numbers), and in its status as the only English opera of the period for which orchestral parts survive. Performing material is available for rental.

LXXVI Semele
John ECCLES
 Edited by Richard Platt

An all-sung English opera that was completed in 1707 but which received its first London production only in 1972, Semele remains one of the great 'might have beens' of British music. Had it taken the stage as planned, it could well have affected the development of English opera by showing that a native form, in spirit Purcellian and English rather than Italian, was indeed perfectly viable during the 18th century. Performing material is available for rental.

John JENKINS
 Edited by Andrew Ashbee

Ten fantasia-suites, for two treble viols, bass viol and organ, written early in the composer's career, and fifteen fantasia-air sets, probably late productions, add to the significant corpus of music for viol consort by this outstanding 17th-century composer who inherited and expanded the tradition of instrumental fantasias handed down from Coprario and Lawes. Recordings of the fifteen fantasia-air sets, performed by the Locke Consort, are available on the Channel Classics label, CD number CCS SA 17602.

LXXX Sonatas for Violin and Pianoforte
Hubert PARRY
 Edited by Jeremy Dibble

A key figure in the so-called English Musical Renaissance, Parry was a considerable composer of chamber music. His three violin sonatas, the first of which, in D minor, is here published for the first time, along with the Fantasia Sonata and Sonata in D major, date from the 1870s and 80s, and are contemporary with his four symphonies and setting of Milton's Blest Pair of Sirens. They are fine additions to the string repertoire and will be greeted enthusiastically by violinists seeking new material for recitals. Performing editions of each sonata are available separately. The sonatas have been recorded by Rupert Luck (violin) and Daniel Swain (piano) on Radegund Records, CD number RR CD018-01.

LXXXII Phoebe
Maurice GREENE
 Edited by H Diack Johnstone

Like its predecessor Florimel, Phoebe (1743), the second of Maurice Greene's two operas, sets a libretto by John Hoadly. Probably written for performance at the Apollo Society, founded by Greene himself in 1733, this three-act opera, for four soloists and chorus, is a beautiful example of the English pastoral-masque genre, both musically and dramatically in the tradition of Handel's Acis and Galatea. Performing material is available for rental.

LXXXIII Consort Music of Four Parts*John WARD

Edited by Ian Payne

John Ward's music for four viols shows less consistency of style than his work for five- or six-part consort. The smooth madrigalian lines of the six Oxford fantasias most clearly approach the accomplishment of his characteristic pieces for larger ensembles. The Paris fantasias, which with the In nomines also included in the collection feature uniquely in a single source in the Bibliothèque Nationale de France, are more variable in texture and idiom. The volume also includes six ayres for two bass viols and organ, brief, tuneful compositions in dance-like rhythm redolent of the almain.

Edited by H Diack Johnstone &amp; Richard Platt

While studying in Italy Thomas Roseingrave became a disciple of Domenico Scarlatti, but in his own keyboard music he developed a personal gift for bold harmonies and modulations into a style that confounded his contemporaries and retains its novelty to this day. He was the first organist of St George's, Hanover Square, until mental illness overshadowed his professional life. His keyboard music remains among the most intriguing oeuvres of any 18th-century British composer. Performing material for the Concerto in D is available for rental.

Edited by Richard Platt

This is the first published version of a sparkling comic opera written in 1786 for Vienna's Burgtheater, to a Da Ponte libretto adapted from Shakespeare's The Comedy of Errors. A pupil of Mozart, Stephen Storace was a major figure in English opera of the late 18th century, and Gli equivoci is a unique testament to his versatility and promise. The work is issued in a reduction for voices and keyboard, with an English singing translation. The full score and performing material (including a libretto with the Italian and English set on facing pages) are available for rental. The libretto is also available separately for sale (Y342).

Edited by Jonathan Wainwright

The music of Dering forms a lively commentary on the artistic interchange between England and the continent in the early 17th century, and the picture is extended with this collection of small-scale settings of Latin texts with continuo accompaniment. Performed both in the chapel of Queen Henrietta Maria and in the residential quarters of Oliver Cromwell, these pieces were clearly much in demand for intimate devotional observances.

Edited by Peter Horton

The third and final volume devoted to the anthems of S S Wesley completes the canon with 23 original works written in the period between his move from Exeter Cathedral to Leeds parish church in 1842 and 1874, the likely date of his final essays in the genre. Approaching a greater simplicity of style, with less counterpoint and dissonance, but emphasising elements of colour, timbre and texture, these works are in general conceived on a more modest scale than earlier pieces such as The Wilderness.

Edited by Andrew Ashbee

This collection includes Jenkins's fantasia-suites for treble, two basses and organ (Group III in the Viola da Gamba Society's Thematic Index of Music for Viols). The abandonment of the galliard third movement in favour of the corant suggests a provenance later than that of the fantasia-suites in MB78. The virtuoso writing of the 'divisions' is among the most demanding of all English consort music, and each of the nine suites commences with an extended fugal section as elaborate as anything found in the composer's viol fantasies. Also included are the 29 surviving bass parts of the Divisions for Treble and Two Basses (VdGS Nos. 1–29).

XCV Songs in British Sources c.1150–1300
 Edited by Helen Deeming

Partly as a result of the nature of their manuscript transmission, songs from the period 1150 to 1300 have remained unknown or unnoticed with the exception of Sumer is icumen in and Angelus ad virginem. The rich variety of content in MB95 is therefore an important corrective and addition to our knowledge of the period, and is evidence for a vigorous interest in the cultivation and preservation of song in the 12th and 13th centuries. Not all the songs edited here originated in Britain, but their presence in manuscripts of British origin suggests that all were at least sung here. Most items are found uniquely in single music sources, or with text-only concordances, and around half are published for the first time.

Aiming to complement and complete the repertory of early secular polyphony edited by John Stevens in MB4, MB18 and MB36, Secular Polyphony 1380–1480 includes music from MSS copied in England as well as music by apparently English composers in MSS from the continental mainland. It also includes a large number of pieces for whose origin there is no clear proof, but which are presented here in an appropriate musical context on account of their sources, form and style suggesting an English origin. The 126 works included offer a new picture of England's contribution to 15th-century European music.

With the completion in this volume of the corpus of Richard Dering's vocal music available in modern scholarly editions, we are now in a position to acknowledge fully his contribution to 17th-century music. The contents include his entire sacred output in English: two verse anthems, two contrafacta, and one sacred song. There are also 18 motets for five voices and continuo, more typical of the impassioned Counter-Reformation motet style of Giovanni Gabrieli, Jan Pieterszoon Sweelinck, and another émigré Catholic composer, Peter Philips.

XCIX Savoy Curtain-Raisers

Edited by Christopher O'Brien

Shedding light on a little-known aspect of late-Victorian theatre, MB99 offers full scores and librettos of two one-act operettas, produced at the Savoy Theatre and written to precede as curtain-raisers the main, full-length work of the evening. Richard D'Oyly Carte did much to cultivate the genre, initiated by Trial by Jury in 1875. Though all but forgotten today, the composers François Cellier (1849–1914) and Ernest Ford (1858–1919) had strong connections with Sullivan, and wrote a number of one-act works, of which only Captain Billy (1891) and Mr Jericho (1893) respectively are known to have survived. MB99 £103.00C Judith
Thomas ARNEEdited by Simon McVeigh &

Although Arne's Judith of 1761 was commended by Charles Dibdin as an oratorio 'that does honour to the English genius', and was long recognised as an important adjunct of the Handelian form and perhaps the finest such work by a native composer before Elgar, the difficulty of establishing an authoritative performing version of the composer's only surviving work in the genre has undoubtedly contributed to its neglect. Here published in a complete, critical edition for the first time, it seems entirely fitting that this true cultural monument of 18th-century Britain should be celebrated with the hundredth volume of Musica Britannica. Peter PHILIPS and Richard DERING

Edited by David J Smith

Complementing their achievements as composers of Italianate vocal music represented elsewhere in the series, this volume brings together consort works by two English Catholics who left England for the continent. Philips belonged to a generation that focused on stylised dance rather than fantasia, and many of his five-part consort dances exist also as keyboard pieces. Dering was born a generation later. Whereas his five-part fantasias were core repertoire for early 17th-century viol players, interest in the stylised dance had by then begun to wane. Several of Dering's pavans and maines survive in a single source only, and lack outer parts, which have been completed by the editor. For performing material, please see page 17.

Bass Viol and ContinuoEdited by Peter Holman &

Music for three violins and bass formed a small yet distinctive corpus of instrumental music at the Restoration court of Charles II and in the Catholic chapel of James II. Introduced to England by the German violinist Thomas Baltzar, the genre was adopted by John Jenkins, whose ten late fantasia-suites for three violins, bass viol and continuo, together with Gottfried Finger's five sonatas for the same group of instruments, constitute the bulk of this volume. Other representative works include Baltzar's own Suite in C major and Bartholomew Isaack's Ground in A minor, all fascinating progenitors of Purcell's crowning contributions to the repertoire, his Pavan in G minor and 'Three Parts upon a Ground', which are available in the Purcell Society Edition. John JENKINS

Edited by Andrew Ashbee

Adding to the major corpus of the composer's music for strings issued in previous volumes, the seventeen fantasia-suites of VdGS Group I, for treble, bass and organ, with the ten fantasia-suites of Group II already in MB78, are amongst Jenkins's earliest compositions in this form, following in structure but not technique the example of fantasia-suites by John Coprario. The two suites of Group IV, also for treble, bass and organ, match the nine fantasia-suites of Group III published in MB90, and like those works display a similar high level of instrumental virtuosity in their divisions. With the publication of MB104, all eight series of the composer's fantasia-suites are now available in Musica Britannica.
